GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Villainous Threats

NEW YORK, June 24—The [illegible] special says Farmers in all parts of Ohio are receiving almost daily notices signed "Workingmen's Bread or Blood Committee," warning them against buying labor saving machinery especially self-binding reapers. Threats are made that every such reaper will be destroyed and stacks of grain burned if an attempt is made to [illegible] them No cases of violence, however, have yet been reported

Training the Flyers.

LOUISVILLE, June 24.—Tenbroeck and Mollie McCarthy were both worked a little Saturday The mare made her two miles in 3.37 [illegible] Tenbroeck could not be timed Rollo Colston, who is assisting Harry to train him, rendering it impossible for those present to do so

A Heavy Rainfall.

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—Advices from South western Kansas say a terrible rain storm prevailed in that region last week At Wichita the rain fall on Wednesday afternoon was estimated at 25 inches The whole country is inundated, and great damage is done to crops. Bridges and fences were carried away and cattle, hogs and poultry drowned The children of a farmer named True living on Beaver creek, were drowned and Mr Bell living on Badger creek was also drowned Considerable damage was also done by lightning.

A Gas Explosion

NEW YORK, June 24.—Oliver B Vincent and Wm K. Code, clerks in the tax collectors office, Brooklyn, entered the vault where the books are kept. Code lighted a match to light the gas jet. An explosion of gas instantly followed, and the wall of the vault was blown into the middle of the office and the railings, furniture windows and sashes were demolished. Vincent was blown across the room nearly forty feet, his clothes torn off him and his hands and face and body fearfully lacerated. Code was buried in the ruins. [illegible] were fearfully injured

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Uprising of the Chippewas

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Gen George A Forsythe who was dispatched to western Wisconsin to inquire into the causes of the Indian uprising, telegraphs Gen Sheridan as follows: Have just visited Grantsburg and Wood Lake, the places where the alleged uprising of Chippewas occurred There is no foundation for the report The Indians have not so much as spoken unkindly to any of the settlers, nor have they taken anything from the farms abandoned by some of the frightened Swedish settlers The chief of the Chippewas whom I saw at the dance at Wood Lake assured me that nobody was more alarmed or regretted very much the reports of their giving trouble. For some time past the Chippewas have been practicing a new dance, which is very like one of the Chippewa dances. The constant repetition of this dance, which is semi-religious in character frightened the timid Swedes, and some half breed joker started the report of an Indian uprising, and quite a number of outlying settlers hastily abandoned their homes and moved to Grantsburg and Rush City for protection. The alleged affiliation of the Sioux and Chippewas is as untrue as it is absurd as these tribes are mortal enemies Nearly all of the settlers have returned to their homes.

Associate Justice Miller Very Ill.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Associate Justice Miller of the U. S. supreme court is dangerously ill at his residence in this city, having undergone a surgical operation of lithotomy. He was sleeping about midnight to night, resting comparatively easy though his physicians consider the present a very critical stage in his condition

Later from Justice Miller.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The surgeons attending Associate Justice Miller announce that all indications are favorable to his gradual recovery.

Hints at a Duel.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—A statement by friends of Congressman Atkins to the editor of the Washington Post contradicts the recent statements as to his behavior to a lady, and says his version of the affair is entirely corroborated by the lady, and that there is but one version of the premises, and that is of a personal and private character between Mr Atkins and General Rosser, who have both left the city for their respective homes to arrange their affairs for such a determination of the affair between them as accords with their views of the responsibility of the men to one another.

CANADA.

Sad Catastrophe.

[illegible], QUEBEC, June 24.—A dwelling of John Kohlen burned and four of his children perished.

Steam against Wood and Wind.

[From the N Y. Commercial Bulletin.]

The sphere of commercial usefulness for the sail vessel is gradually narrowing down to an insignificant area Year after year it finds competition with steam more difficult to contend with, and from the present tendency of things it will not be long ere the traffic, on all the great commercial routes between foreign countries, will be absolutely a thing of the past At one time there was an impression that, under any circumstances the sailing vessel would always find employment for long voyages, but that was when the cost of iron steamers was from 25 to 30 per cent. higher than at present, and when coal and seamen's wages were nearly double present figures. The fact is steamers at this time are picking up all the long voyage business that is worth having To day for instance, the captain of an American bark complains that after waiting in vain at Buenos Ayres for some homeward freight he had to come away in ballast so that little cargo offering was "gobbled up" by steamers The same experience is related at Rio Callao and Central American ports As in South America, so in East India and China ports the steamers get about everything. Even at the little near by port of Bermuda, there is no longer any employment for sail vessels worth speaking of to carry vegetables, for the same reason. The sail vessel is thus being crowded out of long and short voyages alike, and their owners would seem to have no alternative but to accept the situation with what philosophy they can Speed regularity and cheapness are all on the side of the steam and iron, and as commanding elements in the development of commerce, foreign or domestic, they must win the day The cheap built and cheap manned Scandinavian barks and brigs, which swarm in our ports as long as they can do business at rates at which even steamers are anxious for freights will not look will have a share of less employment, but the time is coming when they will have to go to the wall. Mere cheapness will not save them Speed and regularity are factors which must eventually give over even their trade to the quicker and safer agencies of steam and iron

Stephens' Defiance

[Washington Telegram June 1]

Alexander H Stephens has written a letter to the chairman of the Democratic executive committee of the eighth congressional district of [illegible] in which he says he shall neither seek nor decline a nomination at the hands of the convention soon to meet, "and if," he says the convention shall repudiate me as an unfit representative of Democratic principles and shall attempt to rule me out of the Democratic party because of anything connected with my recent public acts or sentiments, then I say to you plainly and distinctly that I shall regard their edict as but a brutum fulmen issued by an irresponsible faction of tricksters and the question whether I or they are sound in the faith of the fathers shall be left to the true Democracy of the district, to be settled at the polls

Wm. A. Vermilye, founder of the famous banking house of Vermilye & Co., New York died on the 15th, aged 77.

THE POTTER INVESTIGATION

[illegible] Witness [illegible] entering [illegible] [illegible]

Springer—[illegible] common [illegible] exertions [illegible] referring to the statement of witness Saturday that [illegible] kept herself knew a[illegible] the [illegible] contents of what is [illegible] Sherman letter

Q—This [illegible] except [illegible] you [illegible]

A—I did [illegible]

Q—Were you the writer of the [illegible] letters

A—I dictated the contents of the letter

Q—Then [illegible] was [illegible] contents of the letter [illegible] persons

A—Yes sir [illegible]

Q—Who was the person [illegible]

A—I refuse to tell you sir

Q—Do you know the names of any persons [illegible] the letter [illegible]

A—I may know the names of some of them

Q—What names do you remember

A—I will not tell you

Witness in reply to interrogation [illegible] was written as near as [illegible] dictated [illegible]

Q—To whom [illegible] was the so called Sherman letter

A—You asked me that before [illegible]

Q—I ask you again [illegible] your hand writing

A—And I again refuse to answer whether it was

Witness then stated that she alone [illegible]

Springer—Yes Mr Weber has [illegible]

Witness—Yes it is a great pity

Continuing witness said the letter was addressed on the face [illegible] Daniel Weber and Jas F Anderson

Springer requested witness handing her a pen and sheet of paper to write a copy from her memory as near as possible to the contents of the original document but [illegible] declined to write a copy, stating that they desired to [illegible] had a number of letters written by her to which they might refer

[illegible] handed her by Weber [illegible] hotel, witness testified that she inquired of the usher if Mr Sherman was in the usher said he believed he [illegible] she did not desire him to do so She then [illegible] read the letter [illegible] an insult [illegible]

Q—But making you [illegible] proper [illegible] the letter written and addressed to Sherman

A—I did [illegible] the letter and will [illegible] permit you to so state it

Continuing witness said she [illegible] Gov Kellogg at his office during the [illegible] [illegible] Sheridan [illegible] Gen [illegible] and others in the [illegible] during her visit there She did not recall distinctly who else she saw without refreshing her memory with her memorandums

By Springer—Have you your memorandums during your stay in Washington?

Mrs Jenks—Oh no, sir an ordinary car could not bring them they are so voluminous

Springer—If you had notified us we might have arranged for a freight train to convey them

Witness (sneeringly) You are very kind

Renewing her testimony, witness said she was on intimate terms with Anderson and Weber. Weber told Butler he was very flowery and offered to tell him more

Springer then desired to know what her object was in deceiving her friends in order to [illegible] for Sherman who she did not know

She replied at first she did it to preserve the the honor of the party afterwards that her idea was to prevent two gentlemen from going over to the Democratic party [illegible] them [illegible] firm by the Republican party [illegible] their [illegible] and that she was a self appointed agent of that party

Springer again attempted to get witness to state in whose handwriting the Sherman letter was but she declined [illegible] so to do so

Mrs Jenks said her action regarding the dictation of the Sherman letter was based on the fact that Anderson [illegible] would go back on the party if he got [illegible] guarantee [illegible] firm if he got one Her idea was to save him from [illegible] bought Witness said she would produce Anderson's letter tomorrow and [illegible] have [illegible] for a package of letters which [illegible] will be interesting to [illegible] although they are not couched in the most elegant language He used the word damn and all that kind of language [illegible]

Gen Butler in jurnal [illegible] if [illegible] had any more of Anderson's letters and she [illegible] may have some more [illegible] By the way [illegible] did you get that letter from Mr Weber [Laughter]

Butler—(leaning carelessly back in his chair seemingly enjoying the question as much as a spectator)—gave no reply

During the questioning of McMahon with a view of having witness state that the letter referred to was the Sherman letter witness evaded direct questions and made various inquiries of McMahon She however stated that had there been $10 000 offered for the Sherman letter and it in her possession, she would not have degraded her honor so much as to have accepted the offer McMahon referred to the letter bearing the signature of Thos Jenks asking witness if it was the signature of her husband The direct question was again evaded and witness said her husband could [illegible] his own signature and he being present she referred to him

When the committee reassembled General H V Boynton special correspondent at Washington of the Cincinnati Gazette was called

By Mr McMahon

Q—Did you call upon the president in relation to the appointment of Anderson?

A—Not on that appointment especially The appointment had been announced as being that of an Ohio man There had been, perhaps the same day a statement published to the effect that Anderson had been engaged disreputably in manipulating the vote of one of two parishes in Louisiana and secondly, that he had been appointed by the president on that account and in a conversation I asked the president how it happened that this man had been appointed charged as he was with disreputable manipulation of the vote of Louisiana The president replied that Anderson had been appointed for efficient services rendered the party and in reply to further inquiry the president said he did not think Anderson would retain his office

Q—To whom did you dictate the letter

A—The pen is a mechanical instrument you know

Q—You dictated to a pen

A—Some one might have been holding the pen though

Q—Who was that some one

A—I refuse to tell you

Q—Am I to understand you then are the author of the language of that letter that the contents were composed by you

A—I dictated the letter It was an original production

Q—It originated with you?

A—Yes sir with me

Q—Then you are the author of the contents of the letter?

A—Yes sir

Q—Have you forgotten the name of the person to whom you dictated this Sherman letter

A—I think I have Yes I have given the name to oblivion and it never has had resurrection

Q—You will not say that you did not write the letter yourself

A—No sir, I will not say that

Q—You saw the letter at the time it was being written

A—Yes I looked on

Q—You do not deny you wrote it

A—No sir I do not

Q—You say you dictated it to a pen

A—It was a quill I think I think I did see feathers on it

Q—Did you see any one in the ladies reception room?

A—I did not I was contemplating political affairs of the nation

Q—Was it in the parlor that you lit the end of this letter off and read it the letter to Sherman

A—It was quite an involuntary act on my part. Yes, that was the place

Q—Had you been informed of the contents of that letter before you opened and read it

A—Not specially only they wanted a guarantee

Q—You did then open a letter not addressed to you and read it?

A—It wasn't addressed to me to be sure but it was quite involuntary

Q—The letter was addressed to Sherman was it not

A—I did not look [illegible] I suppose it was [illegible] that [illegible] was

McClellan on the Wilderness Campaign

[From an Interview in the New York Herald]

My views of the [illegible] are [illegible] in my report to President [illegible] campaign [illegible] his Wilderness campaign I have seen so much wild and foolish criticism of [illegible] movements [illegible] by those ignorant of the [illegible] the general [illegible] emphatic [illegible] speaking [illegible] justified [illegible] their acts [illegible] lives that I have learned [illegible] criticism and to be charitable in my conclusions While I desire to be distinctly understood as saying that I have never wavered [illegible] the overland route to the [illegible] Richmond [illegible] was [illegible] he was [illegible] say but it is possible had [illegible] having his lights and information I might have done exactly as he did The general [illegible] is the only one who having all the information can properly [illegible] what is the [illegible] Grant [illegible] and I have always been in the friendliest [illegible] circumstances could I be induced to criticise his military movements

The New Bulgarian Boundaries

All Berlin correspondents agree [illegible] the settlement of the Bulgarian question is entirely due to the firmness of the British representatives in the congress Its main concessions on this head again are said to be entirely dependent on conditions for the organization and [illegible] One condition is that the Turkish troops when they evacuate Roumelia are to be replaced by native militia composed of Christians [illegible] Mussulmans [illegible] prevailing religion of the district The French representatives in the congress support Lord Beaconsfield's demands on the Bulgarian question

A Movement toward the West

[From the Nation New York]

It is a marked feature of our financial crisis that after a period of stupefaction despondency and stagnation more or less protracted the men of small savings and good habits who have been living on diminishing wages and have seen the avenues of employment narrowing around them in the towns and cities begin to contemplate agriculture as a source capable of furnishing a home and the means of independent livelihood under all circumstances A movement to the unoccupied portions of the public domain then sets in The displaced artisans and mechanics either buy out small farmers in their own neighborhood who are thus pushed westward to new lands or migrate themselves to the most fertile and accessible districts of which they can obtain any knowledge This was the distinctive course of social and industrial development shortly after the panic of 1837 The same symptoms had begun to show themselves after that of 1857 until the outbreak of the war turned the public energies into a new channel The same movement has commenced again in full force There are no statistics available to show the extent of the westward migration from year to year but all accounts represent that it is heavy continuous and of extremely good character at the present time extending from Dakota on the north to Texas on the south The land sales of railway companies having land grants to dispose of have been large and remunerative and the only portions of the country that can be called really prosperous are those which congress is urged to develop by subsidies that is by taxing the less prosperous portions

Too Much Marrying

There is a young lady in the city who says she has more parents and step parents living than any one she ever heard of This is the way she tells the story You know papa and mamma never could agree and so finally they got divorced I don't say whose fault it was, but mamma really did behave ugly sometimes and I could not get along with her So when the separation came I went to live with papa Shortly afterwards mamma married again [illegible] papa was not long in following [illegible] I didn't like it very well at first but my step mother turned out to be first rate and I got to like her splendid Then papa seemed to get infatuated with another woman and she wheedled around him until she made trouble and the result was another divorce and papa soon married the woman that made the trouble When the second separation took place I went with my stepmother because I loved her and because my services were necessary to help take care of the baby Then what does she do but go and get married I declare I never saw so much marrying in my life It only happened a little while ago and my new step stepfather—I suppose he is—treats me in a very kindly sort of way as if he felt he couldn't help himself but didn't exactly like it and I don't like it a bit I can't go back to mamma because she is mad with me for going with pa in the first instance and I can't go with papa because of that wheedling woman and I can't bear to stay where I am It is too bad that a girl should have a father and a mother and two stepfathers and two stepmothers all living at once and not a home that I can feel at home in —St Louis Republican

Church Economy.

[illegible] June 24 Instructions have been finally issued from the Vatican to Neapolitan bishops to take the royal exequatur and revenues and palaces of dioceses Hitherto the bishops have ignored the exequatur and received monthly subventions from the Vatican but the great falling off in Peter's pence renders the strictest economy necessary

MOSES AND HIS BAND

[illegible] Moses [illegible] Wilbur [illegible] Moses [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] other side

[illegible] somewhat perturbed [illegible] Howard coming to force them into some kind of terms Their ideas were very vague and their minds were in suspense not knowing exactly what to expect

They had heard of Gen Howard's going up the Columbia with troops and had not learned of the trouble with the Bannacks hence the movements of the troops were a mystery to Moses and his people Gen Howard had sent a day to meet Moses at Spokane Falls and the Indians were apprehensive that there was being [illegible] to take them by surprise

I [illegible] Moses [illegible] and to learn that I had a communication from Gen Howard He expressed himself as [illegible] that Gen Howard was going to hold the [illegible] Snakes and had no intention to interfere with him He said he had no intention to fight [illegible] fight [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] sent messengers to tell them that Gen Howard was [illegible] [illegible] toward Moses and his people

[illegible] white [illegible] [illegible] never [illegible] that he will [illegible] he would never go there that he will [illegible] from the [illegible] he had never sold his land to the government [illegible] never been sold He wanted to live with peace [illegible] whites and watch [illegible] remain on his own land which was as the country was only [illegible]

He stated that a number of [illegible] [illegible] and attempted to incite his people to war with the whites and that [illegible] them away telling them he had enough trouble with [illegible] people

He said I am here as a prisoner or a prisoner and I am watching my people to see that they do nothing wrong

He had great respect for Gen Howard and would meet the General at any point he might designate when he gets through his campaign He further stated that [illegible] doubt that when his people and General Howard met in council they would be able to settle all matters in dispute in an amicable manner He thought the whites [illegible] not be alarmed as he had no bad intentions toward them

During my stay at Moses's camp an [illegible] with whom I am acquainted took me aside and said to me that the Indians up there were all prepared to fight in case of emergency they had plenty of guns and ammunition and plenty to eat They had no intention of fighting if they were not disturbed but that if an attempt were made to remove them they would fight to a man

From all that I could see and learn I am fully convinced that Moses wishes to avoid war He said to me I want to see my women and children grow up in peace I charged him to [illegible] [illegible] but always wait until he should get news from proper authority that there was no intention on the part of the government to deal unfairly with him

I am satisfied that the best course for the white settlers to pursue is to treat Moses squarely and not allow him to feel all the time that they are suspecting him of doing mischief He feels very sensitive to such suspicions and the treatment he receives in consequence He says there are so many stories afloat about his going to fight that he can't act as he would otherwise He feels afraid some enemy [illegible] shoot him down if he should go out among the whites much The whites noticing that he stays away more than formerly attribute it to bad feeling Each being suspicious of the other the fact has much tendency to cause the trouble both desire to avert

Both parties need to pay less attention to unfounded rumors and be more open and frank CHARLES R M'KAY

A Criticism of Hayes

From the Washington National Republican

President Hayes' mind is so organized as we have said before that he cannot look to hand him for legitimate partisan support from members of the party to which he owes his election The truth is he seems to be enveloped and overwhelmed with the idea of being a non partisan president or a president of the whole people [illegible] his constant groping for strength in the direction of the opposition and as illustrated in the [illegible] [illegible] portion of the Gettysburg interview his coquetry with such men as Hampton Nicholls Gordon Thurman Bayard and Hill Fortunately for him and the cause he represents this unchaste dalliance is overlooked by the average Republican in congress and out of it and the effort to reassert the validity of his title is unabated and unprejudiced by his near approach to political neutrality He might throw himself bodily into the arms of his would be Democratic seducers and the struggle to free the Republican party from all taint of corruption in his election would go on just the same It is the party and its principles and its good name that this fight is being made for not for the man or any set of men he only have to [illegible]

Democratic Plotters

Tribune's Washington June 14 A fact which may throw some light upon the [illegible] those who engineered the [illegible] resolution in the house has just come out It seems according to excellent Democratic [illegible] that several months before the Potter resolution was passed Manton Marble and General Barlow approached a leading Democratic member of the house of representatives and one prominent in the party and urged them to begin active measures for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] which they urged was that it would be a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the presidents [illegible] [illegible] way for 1880 [illegible] [illegible] to remove President Hayes from the [illegible] [illegible] the Democrats [illegible] the presidents title cannot be attacked [illegible] the supreme court and by [illegible] [illegible] are almost all talking [illegible]

If there is a moment in a humble reporter's career when that humble reporter feels that Time at last makes all things even and that the press is the Archimedean lever which moves the world it is the moment when at a lecture or meeting the minister who used to bulldoze him in his boyhood or call the congregation's attention to his misdeeds at church gets up to speak and the humble reporter, shutting up his note book and putting his pencil in his pocket says to his reportorial companions in a whisper clearly audible four rows back "Say boys we needn't give more n a stick of this old idiot's slush

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE [illegible]

A TENDENCY OF THE TIME

[illegible] want people to depend [illegible] saying that if [illegible] such [illegible] distribution [illegible] could be more utopian. An attempt to put [illegible] once al [illegible] Were [illegible] make [illegible] present [illegible] are not above that of the listless savage. Though labor is [illegible] a curse, yet every attempt to fly [illegible] to refuse [illegible] comes more truly a curse. Contentment, health and prosperity are found not in looking to government for aid [illegible] to escape labor and to secure imaginary advantages through legislation, but in working as hard as we can. Man's resources are in himself. He may make his labor irksome or not. If his labor shall refresh itself with hope, if he so wills, and then it leads to [illegible] it and trying to escape it allow it to become a most galling servitude, and then it can profit him nothing. One may be toiling outwardly, as Carlyle grandly says, for man's lowest wants, and yet inwardly for his highest nature. How profitable it is for every one of us, as Trench observes, to be reminded, as we are reminded when we make ourselves acquainted with the derivation of diligence from diligo, to love, that the only true secret of success in our work is to love that work. This is the whole secret. No legislation can furnish the key to it. But every man, if he wills, may turn idle and interpret it for himself, not, however, by trying to escape labor and looking to government to take [illegible] him, but by promptly accepting labor and controlling and directing it.

Colton in his Lacon has these fine observations: "Those favored few who by their rank or their riches are exempted from all exertion have small reason to be thankful for the privilege. It was the observation of this necessity that led the ancients to say that the gods sold us everything but gave us nothing. Water, however, which is one of the great necessaries of life, may in general be gratuitously procured; but if bread, the other great necessary, could be procured on terms equally cheap and easy, there would be much more reason to fear that men would become brutes for want of something to do than philosophers from the possession of leisure. And the fact seems to bear out the theory. In all countries where nature does the most man does the least, and where she does but little there we shall find the very acme of human exertion. But what great thing could be accomplished by two hours' work a day, or what great business or enterprise could be sustained by it? Perhaps, under favorable circumstances, a limited number of people could procure subsistence by such small amount of labor in localities where nature is very bountiful, for the Indian of America and the negro of the tropics have been accustomed to live with even less exertion. And their condition is that of men who live with the minimum of labor which our demagogues so warmly commend. Herrick's verse, though homely, abounds with the most excellent sense:

> If little labor, little are our gains;
> Man's fortunes are according to his pains."

This is the philosophy of the subject condensed into the closest possible expression. The cry nowadays is for government to undertake the construction of great works so as to give people employment for full pay on short hours. But so much of enterprises of this kind as would not be demanded by the actual wants and business of the country would hurt rather than improve the general prosperity. Money so expended is in general doubly lost to the public in that it diminishes the general stock of the community which is in the manly industry and robust independence of the citizen. A growing habit of looking to the government is undoubtedly a tendency of the time. It is a habit which was unknown to our people of the last generation. That it encourages a false hope and leads men to look for resources where no resources are to be found is apparent. The cities are full of this visionary idea. It is a phase of the communist agitation. By the encouragement it receives from politicians it is greatly aggravated and may yet yield bitter fruit. No fallacious idea can be safely propagated.

WHAT IS PROVEN.

Untrustworthy a witness as Anderson may be, and detestable in general character as he doubtless is, there is no possible doubt that the Ohio politicians who were so exceedingly anxious that Hayes should be president stipulated with him that he should be provided for by the Hayes administration. It is a promise which eager politicians would naturally make to a man who had the address to persuade them that he could perform a great service. The course of the investigation renders it tolerably clear that there was a writing which guaranteed to Anderson and Weber recompense for their "services" in the shape of lucrative appointments, but the original of this is lost, and there is only a copy which seems to have been prepared from memory and therefore perhaps is imperfect. Testimony of witnesses leaves no doubt, however, that there was once such original document. Anderson was a bold and unscrupulous pretender, who persuaded the Ohio men who went to Louisiana to see about the count that he was a very important man, and as they are politicians who think that the principal use of the public service is to afford places for the friends and adherents of those who control it, they were ready to give assurance that these parties [illegible] taken care of. [illegible] Hayes [illegible] it said [illegible] Anderson [illegible] whatever [illegible] the vote [illegible] for Hayes and Wheeler [illegible] of which [illegible] previously given on [illegible] give the Hayes electors only [illegible] have been [illegible] of the administration. But [illegible] apparent that [illegible] on no action of his [illegible] was to allow the bulldozers to [illegible] a Republican majority of 1,000 [illegible] and to substitute for it a solid Tilden vote. The character of the man renders it [illegible] probable that he got his pay out of Tilden's party first [illegible] Afterwards, when he saw that the returning board would [illegible] give the electoral vote of the state to Hayes and Wheeler, he started in to make money on that side, and the agreement, now partially developed, was the result of his enterprise in that direction. There is no mystery what [illegible] The testimony [illegible] is per[illegible]

[illegible] dissatisfied with his administration is that he [illegible] the [illegible] in the south [illegible] with troops in the disputed states [illegible] was apparent to all [illegible] that he was without power to [illegible] the governments [illegible] the appearance of certain official dispatches never before given to the public show that it was Grant who refused to order the interposition of the military at the critical time, and that it was this action which decided the matter. In January 1877 many Republican senators and representatives were in New Orleans. They telegraphed in the most urgent way to President Grant that he at once recognize the Packard government, or all would be lost. Kellogg, then governor, requested that [illegible] recognize the Packard state government. Grant peremptorily declined, saying that to do this would be to recognize one of two rival governments for the state at the very time when a committee of each house of congress was at the state capital investigating all the facts. All he could do would be to suppress violence and leave to the rightful authority the decision between them. This left the Packard government without support, and by the time Hayes was inaugurated the opposite party were in actual possession of the state government. Grant acted properly, of course. He could have done nothing else at such a time. Why then should Hayes be censured for not supporting the Packard government with the military arm?

[illegible] telegrams state that it has been ascertained that the ramification of the conspiracy of which the assassination of the Emperor William was to be the first act extends to the United States. Among the papers found upon the persons and in the desks of the men already arrested are letters from individuals in New York, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, which contain evidence of the wide spread and thorough nature of the conspiracy. Some of the letters are written in a species of cypher, the key to which was easily discovered. It appears that the assassination of the emperor was talked of as early as March 25th. That part of the programme which was to be carried out in the United States so far as can be made out consisted of a general attack upon the railways, custom houses, treasuries, banks, large manufactories and grain warehouses.

We are informed by the Star Bar? that there is just this about Anderson's testimony: If he is the perjurer that the radicals so confidently maintain, why should his unbacked and solitary oath concerning the returns in East Feliciana parish favorable to Hayes be used in his fraudulency's interest? Since his return of the vote of East Feliciana gave the whole thing away to Tilden, where there had always before been one thousand Republican majority, the above statement does not involve any great number of self evident truths.

Col. Forney sends this reflection from Paris: Republican France is governed without kings or courts or nobility. Her masses are universally at work, and her leaders are wisely abstaining from all participation in war. The human race is tired of absolute monarchs. The ruled are becoming the rulers, and those only administer human affairs wisely who consult the mass. If war can be made as odious as tyranny, the limit of hereditary government has been reached.

The Graphic reminds us that George Washington remarked in a moment of inadvertence: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace." They did not know in those ignorant old times that the way to preserve the peace is to cut down the army to ten thousand men.

The New York Herald of June 15th says: On the occasion of the decoration of confederate graves at Fayetteville, Ark., the other day, there came flowers from far off Oregon from Gen. Joe Lane for the grave of his old comrade Col. Yell, who fell in the Mexican war.

The New York Herald calls them "Indian insurgents." This is very high for Lo.

Resolved That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the secretary of the interior

On the Sabbath [illegible] preach the communion sermon [illegible] ministers occupied other pulpits in town five minute speeches were made to the Sabbath school and a general religious service was conducted by Dr Atkinson in the evening

Twenty Congregational ministers and over forty delegates and visitors have been in attendance A noticeable feature in the association has been the large proportion of gray haired people present Three fourths of the ministers and a large number of the delegates showed a sprinkling of such silver locks We have though ourselves a new country but now these men begin to look as they do in an association in old Massachusetts—full of [illegible] and experience

AMUSEMENTS.

BEAUTY: OR, THE

Secret of a Fair Face.

An Item of Interest to Every Lady who Desires to be More Beautiful than she now is.

Unfortunately not one woman in a hundred, subjected to the whims of an American climate possesses that basis and starting point of real beauty —a pure and clear complexion. What nature has thus denied, art must be called upon to furnish It can be done, it is done daily Prof W E Hagan placed beauty within the reach of every unpleased daughter of Eve when he discovered that surprising article known in fashionable circles as the true secret of beauty and [illegible]

MAGNOLIA BALM

The MAGNOLIA BALM is a sure device for creating a pure and blooming complexion. It conceals all natural blemishes in the most surprising and effective manner It removes all roughness, eruptions, redness blotches freckles and tan with magical power It drives away the evidence of fatigue and excitement. It makes the plainest face beautiful. It gives the complexion a dazzling purity and makes the neck, face [illegible] appear graceful, rotund and plump [illegible] look not more than [illegible] change the rustic maiden into a [illegible] city belle

The Magnolia Balm [illegible] blemishes [illegible] harmless as water [illegible] its effects that the closest observer cannot detect its use Ladies who want to make themselves attractive can make an absolute certainty of it by using HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM and we know of no other way It is the cheapest preparation in the world all things considered and may be had at any drug store

ASTHMATIC BRONCHITIS,

Of Nine Years Standing Cured by the Syrup

I have been for the last nine years a great sufferer from Bronchitis and Asthma at times so ill that for weeks I could neither lie down or take any nourishment of consequence and during the time suffered intensely Finding no relief from all the medicines I had taken I concluded to try your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites I have in all taken twelve bottles and now I feel as strong and well as ever I felt in my life and for the last year have not had one moments sickness and neither does dampness or draught have the least effect on me

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures [illegible] health and life to both male and female [illegible] also warned them against habits that [illegible] likely to produce disease in plain and [illegible] sive language But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness

DR BRENAN

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest by an entirely new system only known to himself Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs [illegible] Spermatorrhea Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States Diseases of the stomach bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become most perfect [illegible] never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This accounts in part for his great professional success

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand and the patient need not fear the result.

DR BRENAN

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

Everything strictly confidential and honorable

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia as more than [illegible] the Medical men of the Medical Faculty [illegible] his state can testify

CAUTION

Persons coming to Portland requiring medical treatment of the [illegible] will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to [illegible] so called Doctors through pretended friendship for the patients Look out for them they are knaves prompted by selfish motives and what they can make Be sure and ask for DR PAUL M BRENAN the Medical Lecturer and read his sign on his door
